THE JOURNEY CONTINUES...

After a staggering 32 years in the football wilderness, Australia has finally arrived, reaching the round of sixteen of the FIFA Football World Cup.

Australia's opening clash against Japan in Kaiserslautern proved to be the impetus to second round qualification, and now the German city again will be the stage for Australia's sudden death clash against the footballing superpower, Italy.

Before we digress and get carried away with no-vocaine like most of the media in this country, we analyse the Footyros' chances of progressing against the famous "Azzurri".

Without a doubt Australia have thoroughly deserved to progress along with Brazil to the second round, as the courageous efforts by our Footyros have been quite refreshing, and their

They also have the uncanny ability to frustrate and blunt the best attacking teams in the world, making them one of the most formidable foes in the world of football.

cavalier like approach will suit them to a tee in the final knock-out stages of the tournament. But the sobering reality is, that we have only claimed the scalp of Japan thus far.

Yes, against Brazil we showed in large patches that we could match the "Samba Kings", and that we had what it takes to get the required result, all be it a draw, against a European nation of the likes of Croatia.

Fortunately for Australia, the Azzurri are not Brazil, but they are a grade higher than their Adriatic neighbours, Croatia. The Italians are more than just perineal second round pests, having already reached the ultimate summit three times prior and always figuring amongst the favourites.

The Azzurri style of play is variably different than that of their neighbours Croatia, as the Italians play a slower paced game, with emphasises on possession and defence. The Azzurri have the knack to choking teams into submission, strangling the mechanics of opposition teams with their hypnotic tempo. They lull teams into a false sense of security before striking least expectedly. They also have the uncanny ability to frustrate and blunt the best attacking teams in the world, making them one of the most formidable foes in the world of football.

An ace that Australia have up their sleeve, is of course their maestro and composer Guus Hiddink. Four years ago, Guus did the unimaginable, bundling out the Italians in the round of sixteen when he was in charge of Sth. Korea. Four years later, the Italians will be well aware of Hiddink's ability to wave a wand of magic once again.

The greatest weapon Guus has instilled into Australian team has been their inept ability to change and adapt, a virtual form of Darwinism on the football field. It's that ability that makes Australia difficult to read and also ably ready to react to any situation. This type of rapid response will be tested with all its guile against the class of the Italians.

So the question is: Can Guus' football Darwin-ism unravel one of the oldest predators in football?

Tonight we learn how far the Australian football evolution has come.

KNIGHTS BOUNCE BACK AFTER DERBY DEFEAT

SPOLJAR OFF TO WINNING START AT SOMERS ST

Melbourne Knights 2 - 1 Sunshine Georgies

In what turned out to be a dull encounter, the Melbourne Knights secured all three points against local rivals the Sunshine Georgies. The new-look hosts, restructured under Joe Spoljar and Mustafa Pestalic looked slightly disjointed early on, but managed to improve with every passing minute.

In what was a quiet first half, a 13th minute free kick by Dario Matkovic was the first worthwhile incident. The dipping cross surprised everyone including the Georgies keeper Michael Fiorenza, but unfortunately for the home side the ball eluded the Knights attackers.

A minute later Hrvoje Matkovic crossed for team mate Andrew Barisic, but the powerful striker just failed to connect.

The Georgies took a while to settle but as soon as they did they opened the scoring. A clever pass from Trent Waterson for Mark Draycott saw the latter's shot parried by Adrian Cagalj in the Knights goal. Fidel Richards reacted quickest to tap in for the home side for a 21st minute lead.

The home side responded in the 23rd with Ryan Casey finding Josip Kozic who played a neat 1-2 with Barisic. The combative midfielder found himself with only the keeper to beat, but his shot flies harmlessly wide of the upright.

It took until the 34th minute for the Knights to break through the Georgies defence. A penetrating Neven Antic run resulted in a free kick 25-metres from goal. Dario Matkovic stepped up and curled a lovely free kick over the wall for a fabulous equaliser.

The final action of the first half came in the 36th minute. Fidel Richards nearly scored his second with an audacious goal from the by-line, but Casey clears off the line for the hosts.

The second half began with Joseph Montemurro replacing his captain Emanuel Muscat for Ralph Napoli. It was a 50th minute through ball by Napoli that found Richards on the run, but his shot flew wide of Cagalj's goal. It was to be Napoli's first and final contribution as an injury forced the Georgies into another unexpected substitution.

In the 54th minute Barisic found space for a shot, which was well saved by Fiorenza.

Persistent pressure by the Knights saw numerous half chances created, typified by Hrvoje Matkovic's cross for Goran Talevski, who fires high and wide of the goal.

A response by the visitors in the 71st minute saw the impressive Waterson's cross miss kicked by Brett Gilmore. The midfielder's attempted effort found Draycott, whose shot was cleared off the line.

The winner came in the 76th minute when a brilliant run by Talvski found Barisic, who flicked on for the onrushing Luke Slater. The diminutive forward reacted sharply to the clever move to strike the winner past Fiorenza.

The final ten minutes were scrappy and uninspired but the Knights held on for a priceless win.

By Josip Loncaric

Right: New Knights Coach Joe Spoljar

Joe Spoljar
Coach, Melbourne Knights:

It was a very hard fought match. The Georgies are very well drilled under Joe Montemurro, but it was a match we just couldn't afford to lose. We've obviously experienced some turbulence over the last few weeks and it was a very sad day when Joe Biskic left. It was his squad out there today and a fantastic effort by the boys after our 7-0 catastrophe.

Australia has a chance with its "Mad Dog" mentality and I don't think Italy will be any different. We are the underdogs but this team does not know how to give up, simple as that. I believe Australia can get the result.

Fab Incantaloupo
Asst Coach, Sunshine Georgies:

We went 1-0 up and looked comfortable. We came out in the second half and didn't get our game flowing with any rhythm. We didn't have the quality to hold the ball or keep it moving. It was one of those games and we just need to back it up with our Friday game against Richmond.

Prediction

I hope Australia goes through. I think it will probably go to extra time and penalties.

Round 17

GASPARIS SNATCHES TWO POINTS FROM SOUTH

Preston Lions 2 - 2 South Melbourne

Marinos Gasparis' controversial late equalizer helped Preston snatch a late draw against South Melbourne. On a cold winter's afternoon in front of about 1500 supporters both sides showed their intent to attack and play enterprising football.

As early as the 6th minute a well worked build up down the right wing involving Preston captain Zaya Younan and Gasparis, saw Gasparis cross perfectly to the far post for Nick Lazarevski to come in and rifle a header into the back of the net. Preston continued their attack on the South defence. Magnacca and Lazarevski were both looking lively and were looking to run at their opposition players at every cost. However Preston always looked more dangerous when they were involving wide men Georgioski and Gasparis to stretch South and provide some good service to their forwards.

South adjusted to this by withdrawing Tansel Baser out of midfield and into defence and reverting to a back four. This seemed to quell some of the forward thrust of Preston and allowed South to get a hold of the midfield through some swift passing and clever running off the ball by Scott MacNicol and George Tzirtis. As the first half wore on South's territorial domination started to provide their forwards with some opportunities. In the 29th minute Oliveira played Coveny through who beat the oncoming keeper to the ball which enabled the ball to fall to his striking partner Kevin Nelson who struck a well timed shot which was cleared off the line by the hard working and energetic Steven Pace.

Preston did not heed the warning and in the 33rd minute some nice passing between Oliveira and Nelson, allowed Oliveira to play a long ball to the far post for Coveny to out jump Savas Ozdemir and header in to an empty net. South came out after the break and looked the more positive and continued to press forward. Preston paid dearly in the 49th minute for failing to clear a De Nittis cross and the ball found its way to Kevin Nelson who appeared to be in an offside position but the referee must have seen something the rest of us didn't and awarded South a penalty for a foul on Nelson. Oliveira kept his cool and placed the penalty kick calmly past Ozdemir to give South a deserved lead.

Preston was now rocked into action and started to dominate in midfield with Steven Pace and Pece Siveski running the show and starting to bring the wide runners of Preston into the game. Gasparis was now looking very menacing and when given any opportunity he provided some very good crosses for the Preston forwards. South were being well served now by Dino Djulbic who was handling the aerial threat with ease.

Some nice work down the right wing once again involving Man of the Match Gasparis and Siveski saw Pace control the ball in the box and beat his man before cutting back to Georgoski who ballooned his chance from less than ten metres out with only Dean Anastasiadis to beat.

South coach John Anastasiadis withdrew Kevin Nelson in the 75th minute and replaced him with a defender James Stefanou. This was a clear indication that South was keen to close the game up and take their 3 points home with them.

In the 79th minute the game was thrown into controversy when Dean Anastasiadis collected a simple cross and was in the act of preparing to release the ball and had it knocked from his grasp by a Preston player, the ball duly fell at the feet of Gasparis who calmly slotted his shot into the back of the net from about 8 metres out. Despite heated protests from all the South players the Referee and his assistant both failed to spot the foul on the keeper and the goal stood. Disappointment for South who will be rueing the loss of the two points, and high reward for Gasparis who was a menace all day for the South defence.

A frantic finish to the game was always on the cards and both sides threw caution to the wind looking for the winning goal. Vaughan Coveny turned his marker inside the box and narrowly missed with his low shot to the right side of the goal. Almost the last act of the day was the sending off of Les Anastasiou for a clumsy foul on Tavsancioglu, his second bookable offence for the afternoon.

By George Cotsaris

Goran Lozanovski

Coach, Preston Lions:

It was a good performance, especially the first half an hour. Overall it was a good result. We were confident playing at home...it would have been good to get all three points but I'm happy with a 2-2 draw.

Prediction

I think Australia can win 2-1. It will probably go to extra time.

John Anastasiadis:

Coach, South Melbourne:

We started off pretty slowly before getting things going and playing some good stuff.

It was a hard game and a physical contest with both teams needing the points for their own reasons. I'm pretty happy we came away with a point.

Prediction

I think we've got a strong case. We can match any team at the moment and it will probably be a draw. Once it goes to penalties it could be anybody's game and you might as well just toss a coin.

Round 17

BLUES TAKE THE POINTS FROM DEPLETED ZEBRAS

Fawkner-Whittlesea 2 - 1 Bulleen Zebras

A MARK Tsiorlas header helped Fawkner/Whittlesea move ever closer to the Vodafone Cup top six after a 2-1 win over Bulleen on Sunday night.

The Blues capitalised on an injury riddled Zebras outfit to claim its seventh victory of the season and move to within one point of Bulleen on the ladder.

It was a slow opening in the Italian derby at Epping Soccer Stadium, but Bulleen had much of the play in the first 15 minutes, led by some stoic defending, and created the first meaningful chance to score.

The Zebras received a free kick within scoring range, but a curling shot from Billy Celeski dipped just over the bar.

Only five minutes later Fawkner enjoyed their foray deep into the forward half, and it ended in the first goal of the match.

Some fancy footwork from Zoran Petrevski on the right flank led to a dangerous low cross, which bounced off a Bulleen defender and dribbled into the back of the net.

Almost instantly the Zebras went back on the attack, and they almost equalised when a brilliant cross from Celeski just eluded the outstretched led of Ben Harbison.

As well as the deficit it faced, Bulleen also had to contend with a slimming bench as Stelios Drakos was taken off on a stretcher with a leg injury midway through the half.

The Zebras were forced into a second substitution when striker Harbison limped after 40 minutes, and vital linkman Celeski was also helped from the field on the stroke of half time.

Celeski looked to shrug off the injury when he returned with his team-mates for the start of the second half, but he lasted just two minutes before being forced to the bench.

Despite its makeshift formation, the Zebras created a golden opportunity in the first five minutes, but Damien Guglielmi's powerful shot blasted just wide of the upright.

The Blues were content to sit on the lead, pushing numbers back and working on the counter, but it was made to pay when Bulleen found a spectacular equaliser in the first 15 minutes of the second half.

With room outside the box, Drakos' replacement Dean Piemonti launched a long-range thunderbolt which curled tantalisingly into the top right hand corner of the net.

Fawkner's only threatening attacking period in the opening 30 minutes of the second half came after a calculated midfield move and shot from Mark Tsiorlas, but it was superbly saved by Zebras' keeper Tomas Kovar.

From the resulting corner, Tony Sterjovski provided an inch-perfect cross for Mark Tsiorlas, who climbed high to nod home the Blues' second.

By James Taylor

NB: Tony Ciancer is now the new head coach of the Thomastown Devil.

Tony Ciancer
Asst. Coach, Fawkner-Whittlesea:

It was a crucial game for both clubs fighting for a top six spot. The game could have gone either way, but the ever so reliable left foot of Sterjovski and the never say die attitude of Tsourlias was the difference in the end.

Prediction
It will be a draw at half-time and Australia will triumph 1-0 in the end.

Michael Michalakopoulos
Coach, Bulleen Zebras:

We had about four injuries during the game and ended up losing 2-1. We played quite well and deserved more. We created some good chances but in the end it was very disappointing in all factors.

Prediction
If we can hold out defensively we've got a good chance. Australia to win 2-1

PENALTY GIVES BERGERS THE POINTS OVER PINES

BERGERS BACK IN THE MIX AFTER WIN

Heidelberg Utd 1 - 0 Frankston Pines

A soft second half penalty was all that saved Heidelberg Warriors from what would have been an embarrassing tie with a skeleton Frankston Pines squad.

Pines had unsuccessfully tried to have the game postponed due to a succession of injuries that have compounded the Peninsula sides woes.

The Berger's 1-0 win, played behind closed doors after an ugly spectator incident against Sunshine Georgies, puts Frankston on the bottom of the table. However questions arise about the Bergers finals prospects considering their opponents had three teenage first gamers in their starting line-up.

It wasn't until Pines' Craig Metcalfe downed Nick Marinos, and the subsequent pause in play, that the frantic opening tempo gave way to considered football. Heidelberg's Yusuf Yusuf worked well in midfield, combining with Andy Vlahos to create a few scoring opportunities early in the first half. The Bergers controlled most of the play in the first half and while the slippery conditions played a part, they weren't able to translate their work-rate into goals.

At the other end Pines' best opportunity came in the first half when Cameron Leopold put Ben Cullen on goal only to have the young defender put his shot over the bar. Pines, without a single striker, played a five-four-one formation with youngster Nick D'Angelo up front. It was a big ask for the 16 year old who was easily out muscled by the likes of Peter Roberts, Daniel Jones and Robert Lipparotti.

Goalkeeper Kieron McIvor was a stand out for the visitors, as was defender Michael Anderson, but the times when Heidelberg opened Pines' defence they were not able to beat McIvor.

The penalty came midway through the second half after Cullen tried to poke the ball away from Joe Tricario. An older head might not have been sucked into challenging Tricario who was meandering around the box waiting for the challenge. Marinos stepped up to take the shot and expertly converted. Pines actually lifted after the goal, playing themselves into the game. When Cameron Jones was pushed off the ball on goal in the box an equaliser looked forthcoming but the visitors weren't accorded a kick. Boris Ovcin made a few incisions into the Berger's defence but was unable to get one past Lou Asceveski who was bizarrely fighting with teammate Marinos throughout the second half.

Despite the poor performance the Bergers grabbed a handy three points and can be pleased with the efforts of Jones, Tricario and Marinos.

Such are the player woes at Frankston they subbed Nick Waite on late in the match despite the big striker carrying an injury. Pines lost another two players midweek, playmaker Tas Psonis to Springvale White Eagles and Chris Patterson to Frankston Strikers, as well as not having Lindrum Tiari and David Craig on hand due to them being in Germany for the Cup.

Con Pappas
Coach, Heidelberg Utd

It was a hard fought victory. The conditions didn't suit the way we wanted to play. Frankston are a side that put a lot of players behind the ball and were extremely resilient. We had a lot of possession but just couldn't really break them down. We kept a clean sheet for the second time running, so it was good.

Prediction
I think the match will finish 1-1 and then Australia to do it on penalties.

Alan Hodgekinson
President, Frankston Pines:

The side was mainly made up of under 21's and their endeavor was fantastic. We are very pleased and proud of their efforts.

Prediction
Australia 2-1 in extra time.

Andy's Analysis - Round 12 Provisional League South East 1 Wrap Up

Some high scoring games saw several major upsets in Round 12 of Provisional League 1 in the South East. Springvale City has continued its impressive surge up the table with a crushing 4-0 win over fellow challengers Croydon. Goalscorers for Springvale included Klancevic, who is having a fine season, and Rizvic, who managed to score a brace. Ross Reserve is fast becoming the place every team wants to avoid.

Monash University had a tough away win, taking all 3 points to beat Rowville 1-2 and keep themselves away from the danger zone. Goalscorers for Monash were Aleksov and Salmon. Radu scored the solitary goal for the Rowville Eagle.

Southern Suburbs have kept pace with Doveton at the top, with a hard earned 1-2 win away at Freeway Reserve to Brandon Park. Ang Anagnostopoulos ensured the Southern side would get all 3 points with a double brace, the first being a lovely strike from a distance. The solitary goal for Brandon Park was scored by Andrew Mashoian.

Doveton kept Southern Suburbs at bay with a strong 1-3 win away to Warragul Utd. The daunting trip to Warragul theory was put to rest by the Doveton boys who came out convincing victors with Bristow maintaining his excellent scoring rate with another double to his name. Doveton look the goods at this stage, and are proving very tough to beat.

In other games, Carrum Utd came away with their first win of the season, with a crushing 5-1 against struggling Noble Park. The win keeps Carrum in touch with their counterparts and has been long overdue for the Carrum boys. Hopefully they'll turn their season around from here on in. Goalscorers for Carrum included Busuttil and Cordoma amongst others whilst Gagic scored for Noble Park.

In the final game of the round, Riversdale continued its white hot form with a resounding 3-1 win over high achievers White Star Dandenong. Whiteside, Priftis and Moraes all managed to get on the scoresheet for Riversdale whilst Skowronski bagged one for White Star. The league has 2 runaway leaders, with Doveton on top with 32 points whilst Southern Suburbs chase them in second 3 points arrears on 29 points. Croydon drop back in the chase for 2nd spot, now 8 points behind Southern Subs, whilst Springvale continue to make inroads as they surge up to 4th. At the bottom, Noble Park and Carrum United are starting to fall behind, despite Carrum's thumping win. However, if either side can string a few wins together, it should make for a very interesting battle.

TOP OF THE TABLE CLASH ENDS ALL SQUARE

Kingston City 1 - 1 Oakleigh Cannons

Local rivals and premiership contenders, Kingston City and Oakleigh Cannons fought out another stalemate in a 1-1 draw at the Grange reserve on Friday night, following their 2-2 draw early in the season.

Kingston went into the match without injured midfielders Jim Latinopoulos and Xiao Xhang and gave seventeen year old midfielder, Nick Stamatiou his senior debut. The Cannons had the experienced Bill Damianos and Steve Laurie on the bench coming back from injury. Kingston coach, George Katsakis began with a three man forward set up, pushing Joe DiIorio up along side Joe Spiteri and Michael Curcija in order to curb the thrust of the Cannons' full backs down the flanks.

The Cannons however made the brighter start to the match with the crossbar denying a Con Boutsianis header in the 13th minute following a Sam Poutakidis cross. They were soon celebrating striker Esala Masi's 25th minute goal, after a deft Juan Nilo backheel played the Oakleigh striker in behind the Kingston defense. Kingston equalised against the run of play in the 36th minute when Marcus Stergiopoulos, playing as a left midfielder, beat Cannons right back Poutakidis with a step over and crossed accurately from the byline for DiIorio to head home from the six yard box. The goal lifted Kingston and they continued to press forward early in the second half, with DiIorio just missing a sharp chance to lob the ball into an empty goal with Oakleigh keeper Stuart Munro out of his six yard area.

Despite their efforts neither side dominated possession nor fashioned many clear cut chances. The Cannons welcomed the return of Damianos midway through the second half and he almost gave them an avenue to goal through the centre when he played Anthony Pelikan in for a shot on goal which City keeper Daniel Zilic saved low to his right.

A George Goutzioulis header went close for the Cannons late in the game, whilst Joe Spiteri had a chance to snatch the winner for Kingston when he broke through the Cannons defense for a one-on-one with keeper Stuart Webster. Webster however was quick off his line to snuff out the chance.

After the match, Kingston coach George Katsakis said, "Having a depleted squad, not having played a competitive game for two weeks, and coming off two losses in a row, it was always going to be tough. We worked on a plan all week and it worked, the boys did exceptionally well. I thought we were stiff not to get a result especially towards the end with Spiteri." Katsakis was very pleased with his 17 year old debutant, midfielder Nick Stamatiou.

Stuart Munro
Coach, Oakleigh Cannons:

I felt both teams were a little bit rusty due to the World Cup break and it wasn't such a free flowing game as one would have hoped. It was pretty match a game of two halves...we played better in the second half and created one or two good chances, but I think the 1-1 scoreline was a fair result.

Prediction:

Australia has been doing ever so well and I hope they can go at it again. I don't think there'll be many goals in this one. I really hope I'm wrong but I feel the Italians are too clever in keeping things tight. 1-0 to Italy.

"I thought he was fantastic. He had people of the calibre of Pelikan, Goutzioulis and Webster to put up with and he did really well. He stood his ground."

By George Stogiannou

George Katsakis
Coach, Kingston City

We went in this match with a very depleted squad. In general terms I was very pleased with the result and it was a classical derby game...coming off two losses and the break it was always going to be tough.

Prediction:

I reckon the Italians will prevail due to the experience they've had at that level. I'm hoping it's not the case but I think it will be a 1-0 or a 2-1 to the Italians.

EAGLES RISE FROM THE BOTTOM AFTER WIN

Richmond Eagles 4 - 3 Green Gully

Richmond hosted Green Gully in a vital relegation battle "six pointer" at a wet Kevin Bartlett Reserve. The home side lost Tony Celentano to a groin injury from the side which drew 1-1 with the Melbourne Knights before the World Cup break, Semir Sivic entering the starting eleven. Gully had Roddy Vargas suspended from the team who defeated Frankston Pines, Dragi Nastevski returning to the line-up.

In the fifth minute Gully goalkeeper Pasi Schwalger spilled a through ball from Brendan Beni in the wet conditions before the ball was cleared away. Two minutes later, however, he was not as fortunate when Daniel Visevic headed the ball from almost in between his hands after a cross from Sivic to give the Eagles the lead.

A poor sliding tackle saw Beni's name placed in referee Jim Zafiriou's notebook. Richmond were frequently exposing the Gully defence, and Visevic scooped a shot over the bar in the eighteenth minute. Richie Cardozo forced Robbie Simioni into a save a few minutes later as the Cavaliers tried to get back into the game.

Richmond should really have doubled their lead just before the half hour mark. Visevic dispossessed Zoran Markovski on the left sided touchline, cutting into the eighteen yard box and squaring the ball to an unmarked Veton Korcarevski who shot over the goal from around the penalty spot. Markovski was substituted early for Joel Nikolic, and when half-time came the score still remained 1-0 to the home side.

As soon as play resumed Ryan Ollerton found the space to fire in a shot straight at Simioni. Richmond replied with a Steve Burton cross which was headed wide by James Robinson. Back to the other end, Brandon Vassallo chipped an effort wide of goal before Richmond made a second breakthrough in the fifty-fourth minute. An exchange of passes between Sivic and Korcarevski ended with the ball finding Beni deep inside the penalty area and he slammed it beyond Schwalger to make it 2-0.

Not long after the goal Matthew Sanders volleyed onto the crossbar, before having more luck four minutes later. A header backwards from Noel Bahnsen went wide of Simioni who could only get an outstretched hand to it which fell perfectly to the young Gully striker who coolly took the opening to pull it back to 2-1.

The action was coming thick and fast, and just two minutes later Richmond won a penalty. Schwalger had come racing off his line but failed to claim the ball, spilling out to Robinson who had his lob towards the goal handballed. Robinson stepped up to convert the spot-kick, and once again Richmond had a two goal lead.

Robinson had a shot saved before Sanders wasted an opportunity by blazing over the goal after the ball was laid off to him on the left of the area. After the quietest spell of the game, the match burst back into life in the final minutes. In the eighty-eighth substitute Xhezair Sulemani curled a free kick around the wall on the right corner of the box and low inside the post to make it 4-1 for Richmond.

The game was far from over, as in the final minutes Jeffrey Fleming pulled a goal back for Green Gully who then had Lubo Lapsansky sent off for remonstrating with the referee. Then, in the ninety-fourth minute the away side was awarded a penalty which Andy Vargas converted to make it 4-3 before the final whistle blew. Richmond ended up making heavy weather of a game they should have won a little easier, but in the end secured just their third win of the season to end a lengthy stay at the foot of the table and actually climb out of the relegation places.

Phil Stubbins
Coach, Richmond Eagles

I'm thrilled we've got the three points to move us off the bottom of the ladder. I felt the boys certainly earned their win with a very good performance. Although, having said that it was a good lesson for us that the game is not over until it's over...we've still got a few things to work and improve on, but I'm pleased we scored four goals from the opportunities we created.

Prediction

I think for Australia to get through they need to be a little bit more defensively binding. If they fall behind they'll struggle to get back into the game. It could go either way and Australia shouldn't fear anyone. They shown from the matches up to date they can mix it with anyone.

ROYALS TACKLE MAGIC AS LEAGUE RESUMES

Essendon Royals vs Altona Magic

Essendon have the chance to steal a lead on the relegation mire, and keep an unlikely finals dream alive when they meet powerhouse Altona on Monday night. The Magic will arrive at the Veneto Club with three points on their mind, needing to keep pace with the top 3 on the Vodafone Cup ladder.

In the hours before Australia do battle with Italy in the World Cup, anyone watching the game from home would be well served getting down to Bulleen to whet their football appetite. And although the contest may not be at world standard, two Essendon players, Steve Fitzsimmons and Henry Fa'arodo, battled the Socceroos on their way through Oceania qualifying. Some of the contests so far in round 17 have failed to shake the cobwebs of a midseason break, however the inspiration these players will take from being on Australia's undercard, makes for a passionate contest.

On the pitch Altona went into the season break in top form, being the first side to defeat Kingston at Grange Reserve, then taking a draw from another tough road trip to BT Connor against Preston. Attacking mid-field appears the most evident area for selection battle, Tomi Razov available after suspension, and young recruit Igor Arsoovski showing flashes on brilliance in his first season with the club. Given Veneto Club is only Essendon's pseudo home ground, the big question will be whether Magic coach Ken Murphy sets out a more defensive stall and tries to hit the Royals on the counter, or take the game to their opposition. With striker Sash Becvinovski defying the odds of mature age and scoring goals with regularity, the veteran striker (who will no doubt don the signature gloves on what promises to be a chilly night) is the danger man.

Essendon's form going into the midseason break has not been as promising, consecutive losses to the Knights and Sunshine suggest that their current standing in the bottom 4 won't improve unless a clear change in performance emerges after the break. Essendon more than any side needs to hit the Vodafone Cup hard on its resumption, rather than drop points shaking off the sleepy eyes of World Cup late nights. Fail to win here, and South Melbourne at Bob Jane in Round 18 could continue a battle against relegation right to the bitter end, rather than safety, and a pot shot at an unlikely final 6 berth.

By Teo Pellizzerri

David Winton
Coach, Essendon Royals:

We're confident we can go into this match and put in a far better and spirited performance than our last two games. We need to show we can perform a bit better than recently. We're looking forward to getting back out there and show what we can do.

Prediction

With their never say die attitude and spirit I think Australia is the sort of team that can beat Italy.

Ken Murphy,
Coach, Altona Magic

We've got a full squad to pick from and everybody is fresh and ready to go. The boys are all switched on and we're going to go all out attack after watching the World Cup! Essendon are always are for it. They're a hard working side and a difficult side to play against, so we'll have to work pretty hard.

Prediction

I think it will be difficult for Australia. Italy is one of the most technical sides in the world and know how to grind out a result. I think they're a bit more advanced in that department than Australia. 1-0 to Italy, but I'm crossing my fingers I'm wrong.

STATE LEAGUE ONE

Round 12

This weekend sees the start of the run home as Round 12 brings the start of the second phase of the season and the reverse fixtures from Round 1. This is where teams will have had a look at their first half of the season and re-evaluated their goals and positions and in some cases will be fighting for a shot at promotion, while others are digging their claws in for survival.

Friday night saw the first game of the round, which took place at the Port Melbourne Shark's home ground, Anderson Reserve, where the home side was beaten 2-0 by the high flying Springvale White Eagles. The goals for the White eagles were scored in each side of the half time break by Gordan Mrdic and Nebojsa Vukosavljevic. This is yet another solid performance by the White Eagles who loom large as a threat to the top two spots and in my eyes are the only team which could challenge North Geelong for top spot and should comfortably finish within the top two.

Saturday turned out to be the day of the underdog as a few of the fancied teams were rolled over by some of the middle to lower teams and one team finally showed a glimpse of its capability.

The first game finally saw the Dandenong Thunder put in a half decent performance underlining the real talent that does exist within its squad as they welcomed East Altona to George Andrews reserve and proceeded to put a fair old beating on their visitors. In the end defeating them by a score of 5-1. The lone scorer for the Phoenix was Jone Dimoski with a goal in the second half when the game was long beyond their grasp. For the home side it was a brace of goals by Neil Wallace along with goals by Jamie McMinimce, Paul Wilson and Mentor Memeti. This would have been a welcome return of form for the Thunder and hopefully for them a platform can be created from the confidence this will generate as for the Phoenix they are in some dire straits down there and if things don't pick up and with other teams around them scoring a result here and there they could well be in trouble.

The second game saw the plucky but as yet under-achieving Bentleigh Greens make the journey to the

Brunswick City and Bentleigh Greens

Dunstan reserve to take on the high flying Brunswick City side brimming with confidence and fully expecting a result against the visitors. What transpired was an inspirational performance by the men in Green which culminated in a winning goal by Ben Coggar to give the Greens all three points, points which will prove crucial to them in their quest to avoid the bottom three spots. This will hurt Brunswick as it will allow the sides above them to just steal a small break on them.

The rounds biggest upset came down in Lara as league leader and championship favorite North Geelong welcomed the St Albans Saints to Elcho Park. The plucky Saints repelled the Warriors in the first half and then with goals by Daniel Gecic and Mario Medugorac took all three points back with them up the princess freeway to St Albans. This shows one thing and that's that the saints have a fighting spirit and will give every team a game. While a setback for the North Geelong outfit and it will put a dent in their charge towards promotion it may well be a wake up call that they will look back on and the thing that set them up for the rest of the season. All credit on the day must go to the Saints though.

Sunday's game saw a goal-less stalemate between the North Coburg United team and the visiting Western Suburbs outfit in an entertaining game, which had chances but in which neither team was able to make the decisive break. A draw isn't the worst result for either side but it may hurt Suburbs quest at the top of the league while this draw underlines the improvement of the North Coburg side after their awful start to the season. I think it's onwards and upwards for the lads at the Reddish Reserve.

The other game saw Northcote City and Langwarrin fight out a one all draw down at John Caine in a result which will please the Northcote coaching staff and probably disappoint the Langwarrin staff. Goals from Michael La Macchia for Northcote and the ever prolific Caleb Nichols for Langwarrin ensured a share of the points for both sides.

Looking at the ladder after the completion of this round St Albans have snuck under everyone's radar because of results and sit second but it has to be noted that North Geelong do have a game in hand but this is an excellent situation for the saints to be in. The Thunder's big win has lifted them out of the bottom two at the expense of the team they beat in Altona East and unless things change I can't see Altona East getting out of the bottom two. Northcote needs more then draws to get themselves off the bottom spot.

End of round twelve the big winners were the White Eagles who now have a four point gap on the top spot from St Albans and Western Suburbs who equal on points.

LATE FLURRY OF GOALS NOT ENOUGH FOR KNOX

South Springvale 3 Knox City 2
(Half-time 0-0)

A game that was drifting along to a scoreless draw came alight in the second half with five goals and heaps of controversy.

There was little to comment on in a tepid first half in which neither side created any clear-cut chances. Neither Tony Sango in the South's goal nor Mark Jorgensen for Knox were seriously troubled, even though both sides produced some neat football at times.

The second half looked like a replica of the first half for the first ten minutes or so. Then controversy struck in a tug war. Knox was attacking and Vernon appeared to be clearly brought down in the area, only for the referee to wave play on. Souths countered down the right wing almost immediately and a great cross was met with a diving header from Kapralos to give Jorgensen no chance from close range. In the space of one minute the entire complexion of the game had changed.

Knox's defence went to pieces for the next 15 minutes and conceded two more goals. Kapralos got his second five minutes after the first when he was first to a left wing cross and his glancing header was perfectly placed into the corner of the net.

Ten minutes later, Voursoukis received a low cross seven metres out and he turned O'Connor beautifully before firing home.

Once again, Knox staged a belated come-back. With Sango claiming he was impeded, a left wing cross found its way to the far post where Humphreys stole in unmarked to reduce the deficit.

Shortly after, substitute Mohamadi gave Knox some hope of salvaging something when a cross-ball was only partially cleared and his first time shot beat gave Sango no chance at the near post.

Going man for man at the back, Knox lived dangerously in search of an equaliser but the home side was able to play out time without too many worries.

VALLEY'S CHARGE CONTINUES

Clifton Hill 1 Diamond Valley 3

Diamond Valley continued their merry way to a top 2 spot in the State League Division 2 SE with a 3-1 win over Clifton Hill.

Valley looked to be cruising to a comfortable win leading 2-0 at the interval but lost a lot of its momentum for a large part of the second half and it took until the 78th min. before it netted its third.

Valley opened brightly through Marco Santile and Ernie Simsek. The first goal came after 11 mins. when Santile took a corner on the right. He found Sefgi Mu-rat at the far post and he headed the ball down to Cihan Kara who netted from 12 metres. Valley continued to push forward and gave Peter Katris, Frank Drakopoulos and Paul Donnelly plenty of work.

Valley's pressure paid off when Ben Love headed its second goal after a good build up from Santile, Simsek and Alan Cameron.

Clifton Hill fought hard to get back in the game with Tony Toutzaris and Milan Sayic showing the way. Rob Enes came off the bench after 30 mins and added some composure to the midfield. The home side suffered a blow when Toutzaris got his marching orders for dissent.

Valley were really on fire and Hill goalie Peter Sprekos worked overtime as he thwarted scoring attempts from Cameron, Santile and Mark Court in quick succession, to keep the half time score at 2-0.

The second half began with the Hillmen taking the game right up to the Valley. Valley seemed to ease off and George Toontas urged his team forward. Romanovski and Pope responded and on the hour mark got their reward when Enes scored from the penalty spot after Pope was brought down.

Valley plugged away but too often their last pass let them down. It wasn't until 12 mins. from time before Court and Cameron strung passes together to put Murat through for the clincher.

Valley reserves had a 2-0 win with Goksi Guler and Brendan Mulcahey scoring the goals.

Next week Valley entertain fellow promotion challengers, Cranbourne Comets at Parlington Flats

GREENER PASTURES AHEAD FOR BENTLEIGH AFTER GOOD AWAY WIN

Brunswick City 0
Bentleigh Greens 1

Bentleigh recorded an excellent away win to revive their hopes for the second half of the season. Under new coach Vlado Vanis the visitors took it up to Brunswick playing an attacking brand of soccer a deservedly came away with the points. It must also be said that lady luck did smile on the Greek Cypriot club as Brunswick did rattle the woodwork on two separate occasions.

The deciding goal of the game came very early in the game when in the 8' a seemingly harmless left foot cross was spilt by Manny Pappas as it came of the greasy surface. Ben Cogger was on hand for Bentleigh to tap in what was a very opportunistic goal making it 0-1. Brunswick attempted to lift the tempo of the game but were well foiled by the Bentleigh defence ably lead by Theo Constantinou.

It was Bentleigh that still looked the more dangerous on the counter and were unlucky not to score their second in the 15' when Pappas made amends for his earlier mishap with a brilliant save from point blank range. In the 24' Bentleigh were again unlucky as a cheeky chip over Pappas just went over the crossbar. Five minutes later at the opposite end Brunswick were short of luck as Con Vouloumanos saw Coles of his line and attempt to chip him. The well executed chip beat Coles but hit the crossbar on its way down denying Brunswick the equaliser. The next good chance of the half fell to Zach (34') from a corner but his header was sent just over the horizontal.

The second half saw a more determined Brunswick come out and really apply some pressure to the Bentleigh defence. Brunswick did everything but score hitting the crossbar twice and had what appeared a clear penalty ruled against them. In their pursuit to find the equaliser they at times overcommitted and could have gone further behind. In the 54' Brunswick got caught square at the back but the Bentleigh striker could not hit the target. In the 59' Paul Galea's half volley beat Coles all ends up but again rattled of the crossbar.

The game continued at a frenetic pace and Bentleigh's in ability to hit the target kept Brunswick well in the game. Again in the 64' a deep back post cross found a myriad of Bentleigh player waiting to connect but when the shot was taken it was off target. Paul Galea, arguably Brunswick's best player on the day, came agonisingly close in the 75' when he headed Zach's cross from the edge of the 18 yard box and found Coles in no man's land.

Unfortunately for Brunswick his header was just wide of the target. Teenager James Sherman could again have been the hero in the dying minutes of the game (83') as he latched on to Franklin's corner kick but his header too was sent over the crossbar.

The final whistle could not come soon enough for the visitors as they walked away with the three points in what Vanis would agree was a very satisfying result. For the Brunswick lads an improved performance will be needed to take on the might of Western Suburbs next Sunday who have made a host of personnel changes to their corresponding fixture earlier in round two.

Score: Brunswick City 0 Bentleigh Greens 1
Goalscorers: Cogger, Ben (8') - Bentleigh
Best: Galea, Zach, J. Vouloumanos, Jackson

Line up: Pappas, Zach, J. Vouloumanos, Tsimiklis (A Franklin 76'), Jackson, Sherman, Karkaletsis, Galea, C. Vouloumanos, Greechan, Stafrace

Reserves: Bentleigh Greens almost stole the unwinnable game as they were well behind earlier in the game and given a reprieve from the Brunswick team to stage a remarkable 4-3 result in Brunswick's favour.

The first half saw Brunswick completely dominate the game with goals to Sarpa (40') and Karavitis (42'). In the second half Brunswick continued to dominate early and scored again through Priflakis (56'). As has been the case for the last couple of weeks the team sat back and rested on its laurels.

The midfield and defence become less accountable and allowed their opposition to get back in the game. Bentleigh scored in the 61' to make it 3-1. In the 73' a free kick by Karavitis hit the post beating the keeper and Sarpa was on hand to tuck away the rebound. To their credit Bentleigh pressed forward throwing an extra man forward and were duly rewarded in the 74' with a goal from a good run from midfield. It appeared that the visitors would not only equalise but could score a winner when only a minute later a pile driver from 25 yards beat Kosmopoulos all ends up making it 4-3.

Brunswick appeared to get a grip of the game again and held out to secure a very shaky 4-3 win. The second half lapses are very concerning to coach, Loui Simopoulos, and must be addressed immediately.

Best: Sarpa, Karalis, Karavitis, Malara, Chicciu

KEWELL SAVOURS THE MOMENT

Australian goalscoring heroes Harry Kewell and Craig Moore looked like men who had just won the FIFA World Cup after sending the Socceroos through to the Round of 16 with their 2-2 draw against Croatia.

Full of pride and excitement, the pair gave exclusive interviews to FIFAworldcup.com as the dust settled on Australia's qualification from Group F. They tried to sum up their intense feelings after a night of true drama in Stuttgart, when the Aussies trailed twice but got the point they needed. Kewell said: "On a personal level, it's just unbelievable, but it's not really about a personal thing

I enjoyed it for a split second, but it's a team performance. That goal I scored wasn't only for myself, it was for the whole team and the nation. The fans have supported us so much from day one. The crowd at the game was just superb and they are our 12th man."

For Kewell, the disappointments of sustaining groin injuries in the 2005 UEFA Champions League final and 2006 FA Cup final with Liverpool were not forgotten, but the sense of redemption was palpable as he paid tribute to the people who helped him back on the road to recovery and rescued his dream of playing in the FIFA World Cup.

"I have been in a few big games and through no fault of my own I've ended up limping out," he said. "It just goes to show that if you work hard you can come back. I have to give a big thanks to the medical staff of Australia and Liverpool. They've put up with me complaining about the same injury for two years and I must have done their heads in, but they have all stuck by me. The respect they give me is fantastic and without them, I wouldn't be here."

Kewell's all-important second equaliser came minutes after being twice denied by Croatia goalkeeper Stipe Plenkos and he said, "You just have to keep going. If you don't try, you don't get and usually one out of ten will go in for you! Even at 2-1 down, you don't let thoughts of losing come into your mind. The substitutes that came on changed the game for us, they worked their socks off. It's perfect for the Australian team to have guys like that coming on and creating chances for us."

Penalty taker Craig Moore, holding a mobile phone buzzing with an incessant stream of congratulatory text messages, told FIFAworldcup.com:

"It's a very special evening for us. We did it the hard way again, coming from behind, but that sums up our 'never say die' attitude. We kept on battling away and in the end the chances came to us to get the result we needed."

"It was a dream to take the penalty and score. You just keep your focus 100 per cent on the ball and hitting the back of the net. It doesn't matter how it goes in. It's not scary because that's a great position to be in. You can be a hero and if you miss, well... the best players in the world miss penalties.

Unique feeling

"It was an unbelievable adrenaline rush when it went in, like nothing I've ever experienced before," Moore continued. "It was an important goal for the team as well to get us back in the game. The thought of being beaten doesn't seem to cross this team's minds. We managed to come back in the Japan game and against Croatia. We just don't know when to give up but it would be nice to be in a position where we get a goal ahead in the game."

With Italy up next in Kaiserslautern on Monday, Kewell beamed from ear to ear as he looked forward to the prospect. "It's going to be fantastic," he said. "We weren't even supposed to get this far. A lot of people wrote us off, but we were quietly confident and we don't fear anybody. We lost against the world's best when we played Brazil, but we've got nothing to be ashamed of."

"Against Italy we've got to out there and play our football and not worry about the opposition. It's the first time our nation have qualified past this stage, so we are going to go out and enjoy it."

PARREIRA WEARY OF GHANA

Ghana could cause five-times champions Brazil all sorts of problems in their FIFA World Cup™ second round clash on Monday admitted Brazilian coach Carlos Alberto Parreira on Saturday.

The 63-year-old said he expected the Ghanaians to come out all guns blazing as they had nothing to lose having already done superbly to reach the last 16 beating UEFA EURO 2004 semi-finalists Czech Republic and 2002 FIFA World Cup quarter-finalists the United States in the group stage.

"You would do well to remember their pedigree," said Parreira, who coached the 'Black Stars' in 1968.

"Ghana like Cameroon and Nigeria are outstanding teams.

"They have talented players and they are not as naive as they were.

"Their players play all over Europe, and they have lost their innocence.

"We hope to maintain our unbeaten record against African teams but we have to respect Ghana.

"There may be no Michael Essien (he is suspended), but there is Stephen Appiah.

"They (Ghana) are good, and they have nothing to lose

"They are playing against the five-time world champions and one of the favourites for this title.

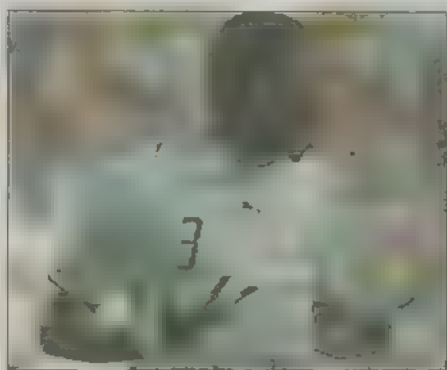

"They will shoot on sight. They will be aggressive and we have to work out how to pass the ball around under those circumstances," added Parreira, who is in his third spell as Brazil coach and landed the 1994 FIFA World Cup in his second try at the job.

Parreira, who revised his decision never to coach the national side again after taking a load of personal abuse following the 1994 finals, denied that there was any friction between himself and barrel-chested Inter Milan striker Adriano, who was rumoured to be unhappy at not playing in the final group match against Japan.

"No, I don't find that he is depressed," said Parreira, who has also coached Kuwait and Saudi Arabia at the FIFA World Cup finals.

"Adriano (who scored in the 2-0 win over Australia) has trained well and in any case there is no reason to be depressed because you have not played in one match.

"The coach does what he feels best is for the team. There are 23 players in the squad and none of them should feel depressed."

Second Round Ins And Outs

COLOGNE- Switzerland full-back Philippe Senderos will miss the remainder of the World Cup after suffering a dislocated shoulder in his side's 2-0 victory over Korea Republic on Friday. Senderos, who received a cut to the face while scoring Switzerland's opener in the first half, fell awkwardly early in the second half the game and had to be replaced by Arsenal teammate Johan Djourou. Rudolf Röder, the Swiss team doctor, said that it is a possibility that the player could require surgery, but will at least be out for the next two weeks having done a bit of damage to ligaments. Djourou will likely be in the starting line-up when the Swiss battle Ukraine in their Round of 16 match on Monday.

DUISBURG- Veteran Italy defender Alessandro Nesta has been ruled out of the Round of 16 matchup with Australia after the AC Milan full-back suffered a thigh injury against the Czech Republic. The 30-year-old had to come off early in the game and was replaced by Marco Materazzi, who will likely start in his place when the Azzurri take the pitch against the Socceroos in Kaiserslautern on Monday.

It is unclear what Nesta's availability will be should Italy advance further in the tournament as the injury has been bugging Nesta since April. Materazzi scored against the Czechs after coming in as a sub.

BERGISCHE GLADBACH- After suffering a thigh injury in a training session on Saturday, electric striker Robinho will likely be unavailable for selection when Brazil take on Ghana in the Round of 16 on Tuesday. The 23-year-old Real Madrid forward started in Brazil's 4-1 victory over Japan, giving starting striker Adriano a rest. Adriano will start up front with Ronaldo in the game, with Fred likely to be first-choice striker off of the bench.

Robinho has played in all three games so far, and was impressive in all of them as his pace and skill baffled even the best defenders his opponents could throw at him.

Brazil coach Carlos Alberto Parreira was cautiously optimistic about Robinho's fitness saying, "Not even the doctor can know right now... we have to cross our fingers."

The Australian national soccer team, known as the Socceroos, is currently coached by Guus Hiddink. The team is set to compete in the 2006 FIFA World Cup in Germany. The squad consists of 23 players, including goalkeepers Peter Schuster, Zvezko Kalac, and Archie Thompson. The team's kit is orange with green accents. The Australian national soccer team has a long history, having first appeared in the World Cup in 1974. They have since qualified for the tournament in 1974, 1982, 1986, 1990, 1994, 1998, 2002, and 2006. The team's best finish in the World Cup was in 1974, when they reached the quarter-finals. The team's most recent World Cup appearance was in 2002, where they were eliminated in the group stage. The team's current manager, Guus Hiddink, is a Dutch coach who has previously managed the Netherlands national team and the Chinese national team. He was appointed as the manager of the Australian national team in 2005. The team's home stadium is the Sydney Football Stadium, which has a capacity of 20,000. The team's website is www.socceroos.com.au.

MAXI SENDS ARGENTINA INTO THE QUARTER FINALS

LEIPZIG A brilliant goal by Maxi Rodríguez in the 98th minute gave Argentina a thrilling 2-1 extra-time victory over a valiant Mexico side in Leipzig on Saturday, sending Argentina through to the quarter-finals. Right out of the starting gate, Mexico went on the attack and they nearly had the lead when a Jared Borgetti header from a corner kick was deflected just over top of the goal.

0-1 Rafael Márquez 6th minute

But four minutes later, the Mexicans would be rewarded for their attacking start as Pavel Pardo's free kick from the right was deflected toward captain Rafael Márquez at the far post, and he hit it into the roof of the net for a 1-0 lead.

1-1 Hernán Crespo 10th minute

However, Argentina very rapidly found an equalizer as Crespo beat Borgetti to a corner kick at the near post, and the ball ricocheted into the net over a helpless Oswaldo Sánchez.

Crespo then nearly gave Argentina the lead in the 23rd minute when he beat the offside trap of Mexico to end up alone with the goalkeeper, but his attempted chip just went wide of the far post.

Borgetti then took a shot at a 2-1 lead two minutes later as he turned on a shot 25 yards out from goal, but Roberto Abbondanzieri was on hand to make a sprawling save.

Late on in the half, Mexico went on the attack trying to take the lead into the dressing room, but the closest they came was when substitute Gerardo Torrado, who replaced an injured Pardo, fired high from 30 yards.

There was a bit of controversy as the first half entered stoppage time when Gabriel Heinze committed a horrible giveaway and then a horrible foul on Francisco Fonseca, earning a booking, but the Mexican players pleaded that it should have been red for Heinze being the last defender.

Early on in the second half, Borgetti could have given Mexico the lead when a perfectly-weighted ball from Ramón Morales picked out the striker at the far post, but his shot was stopped well on a great instinctive save by Abbondanzieri.

In the 57th minute, Maxi Rodríguez made a bid to give Argentina the lead when Riquelme hit a free kick from the right that found the midfielder on the left side of the area, but his shot bounced before being knocked over for a corner kick by Sánchez.

Two minutes later, Crespo could have made it 2-1 when Riquelme neatly played him in on goal, but a charging Sánchez made the save on his shot after cutting down the shooting angle.

The match then resorted to possession, and Argentina eventually brought on young striker Carlos Tévez to inject some life into the attack, and in the 79th minute he brilliantly worked his way into space in the area, winning a corner that amounted to nothing. After Argentina then brought on birthday boy Lionel Messi, Zinha made a dashing run down the center of the pitch in the 86th minute, but he played it through for Borgetti, who went down looking for a penalty to no avail.

Seconds later, a nice cross from the left by Gonzalo Pineda for Mexico found Fonseca in the center of the area, but his header skipped wide.

In the second minute of added time, Messi thought he had given Argentina a dramatic victory after being fed the ball by substitute Pablo Aimar, but the linesman dubiously ruled Aimar offside and the goal was disallowed, sending the teams to extra time.

EXTRA TIME

2-1 Maxi Rodríguez 98th minute

A wonderful pass by Sorin from the left found Rodríguez on the edge of the area. Maxi chested the ball down beautifully and hit a cracking, looping shot into the far left corner for perhaps the goal of the tournament, a shot that left Sánchez with absolutely no chance.

At this point, Mexico could have used a substitution to bring a striker like Omar Bravo or Guillermo Franco into the game, but they had already used all three, including the first half sub for the injured Pardo.

In the 107th minute, Zinha nearly took advantage of a giveaway by Lionel Scaloni, but the Brazilian-born midfielder fired his shot just wide of the goal.

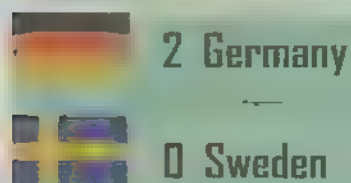

Ten minutes later, Borgetti won a glancing header in the area after right-corner cross by Osorio, but it went wide and so went Mexico's hopes of staying alive in the World Cup.

Argentina now move on to face Germany in the quarter-finals, while Mexico fall at the first hurdle in the knockout rounds for a record fourth straight World Cup.

Germany Too Strong For Swedes

MUNICH Two early goals from Lukas Podolski sent Germany on to the quarter-finals of the World Cup on Saturday as the host nation ousted Sweden 2-0 in front of a partisan crowd in Munich.

1-0 Lukas Podolski 4th minute

It started very fast for the Germans as Podolski slid in a pass for the run of Miroslav Klose, but after Sweden goalkeeper Andreas Isaksson saved at the feet of Klose, the ball came back out for Podolski to fire into a vacated net.

Three minutes later, Podolski nearly had a second goal as he hit a screaming shot from 20 yards out, but the ball sailed just high of the crossbar. Podolski would get his reward just five minutes later, however.

2-0 Lukas Podolski 12th minute

Klose took the ball toward the center and Podolski made an overlapping run to his right. The Werder Bremen striker then played a nice reverse ball to Podolski who fired from just inside the area into the net with Isaksson helpless to stop it.

Michael Ballack, who was frustrated for the entire game by Isaksson, took a stinging shot from 25 yards out in the 18th minute as the Germans looked to make it 3-0, but the Rennes backstop made a diving save.

Not too long after that, Bernd Schneider took an attempt from distance, but his shot across goal just went across the face of the goalpost and wide.

On the half-hour, Klose had a shot from close range just saved at the last gasp by an alert Isaksson, but the Swedes were soon at an even bigger disadvantage when Teddy Lucic earned his second booking of the first half and was sent off in the 35th minute.

Five minutes later, Sweden finally created a good scoring chance as Zlatan Ibrahimovic did well to control a ball off his chest, but his shot on the the swivel was pushed around the post by an insecure Jens Lehmann.

Three minutes later, Lehmann failed to properly deal with a cross from the left by Henrik Larsson, and Matthias Jonson would have scored had Philipp Lahm not cleared off the line.

Just before the break, Isaksson again produced a top-notch save as Klose sought out his fifth goal of the tournament, but it was saved after being goalbound.

Early in the second half, Sweden were thrown a lifeline when they won a penalty after Larsson was brought down in the area by Christoph Metzelder, but the veteran striker sent his shot a mile high of the goal.

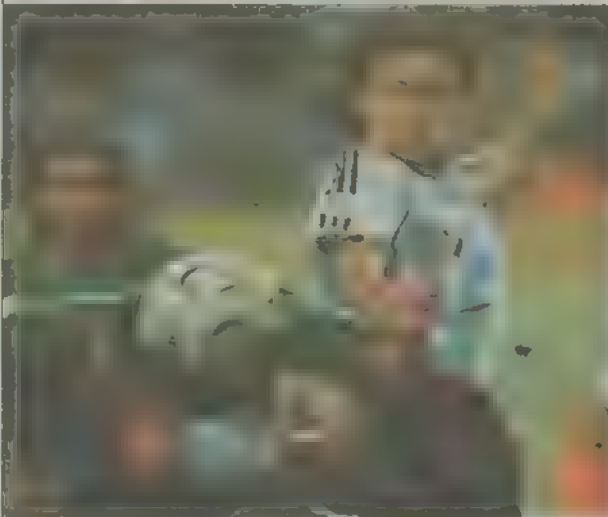

Ballack's frustrations then began in earnest in the 55th minute as he hit a blistering effort from distance that Isaksson just barely got a fingertip to, and four minutes later Ballack fired just high.

As the match began to wind down, the Germans began holding a lot more and never made many forays into the penalty area, settling for shots from deep, but Ballack could have had a goal with nine minutes to play, but again Isaksson made a point-blank save.

Bernd Schneider then hit the post and Oliver Neuville was denied by Isaksson late on as Germany would celebrate rightly their dominance in the game.

They now move on to the last eight where they will face the winner between Argentina and Mexico.

Golden Boot race heats up in Elimination Round

THE ROAD TO GOLD: As if having one leading contender for the adidas Golden Shoe was not enough, Germany now have two. After Miroslav Klose's two-goal exploits against Ecuador, today was the turn of his forward partner Lukas Podolski who propelled Germany into the quarter-finals by netting both goals in the 2-0 defeat of Sweden.

Unlike Klose, Podolski took his time finding his range in this FIFA World Cup™ but after getting his first goal of the finals against Ecuador, the 21-year-old needed no invitation to make his mark against the Swedes in Munich, striking twice inside 12 minutes to establish a winning platform for his team.

Podolski's pair leaves him with three goals in four matches and in joint-second place in the Golden Shoe standings, just one behind his colleague Klose. Those who cling to the old stereotype of dour, efficient German football will have to rethink as they see two strikers from the Mannschaft trade blows in the fight for the scorers' prize.

"They don't play like a typical German side," said Sweden captain Olof Mellberg after an impressive attacking display from Jurgen Klinsman's men. And the irony of today's performance was that it was Klose who helped Podolski close the gap at the top.

The senior member of the partnership set up both goals: for the first, it was his shot that Andreas Isaksson parried into Podolski's path; for the second, his cute pass sent Podolski on his way.

Afterwards, Klose had kind words for his teammate: "He showed today just how important he is when he's fit and believes in himself." Tellingly, if these two keep up their shared pursuit of the Golden Shoe, they could well take Germany to another, more coveted piece of gold.

Klose's competition does not come solely from within his own camp, of course and he will come up against two other challengers in the hosts' quarter final showdown with Argentina, the day's other winning team. Both Hernan Crespo and Maxi Rodríguez moved level with Podolski and Fernando Torres after recording their third goals of these finals against Mexico.

Rodríguez's rocket followed his earlier double against Serbia and Montenegro – and will be an outstanding candidate for the best of the lot come July.

WOMEN'S PREMIER LEAGUE

Round 14 of the Vodafone Women's Premier League kicked off with the much anticipated Match of the Round at Wembley Park between second-placed Box Hill Inter, and third-placed Heidelberg United. Inter was coming off its first loss of the season, to Ashburton the previous week, while United had strung together three wins on the trot after its only loss of the season – also to Ashburton. Two goals in each half gave Inter a comfortable 4-0 victory which sees it draw five points clear of United and two points behind Ashburton, who has played two more games. Bendigo Vipers hosted Sandringham at the Strathfieldsaye Sports Complex on Saturday. Bendigo had the better of the sides' Round 3 clash when it prevailed 2-1 to inflict Sandringham's first defeat of the season, but could not repeat the dose on home turf, as the visitors held on for a 1-1 draw. Sandringham remains fourth and the Vipers seventh. Eltham North missed a chance to haul itself clear of relegation danger when it went down 1-0 at home to Preston Lions on Saturday. Sarah Lovett's second half goal was enough to seal victory for the visitors, and avenged the Lions' 2-1 defeat in the reverse fixture earlier in the season. Preston remains ninth, but importantly now holds a five point buffer over Eltham in tenth. Another side at the wrong end of the table is South Melbourne, which hosted Keilor Park at Bob Jane Stadium on Sunday. South's defence, which has conceded 52 goals in 13 matches, has been its Achilles heel all season. The Lakesiders were 1-0 down at half time, but a rampant Keilor Park exposed their defensive frailties once more with five second half goals to run out comfortable 6-0 winners. Melanie Camilleri scored five as Keilor posted its seventh win of the season to stay in touch with Cranbourne and Sandringham just above it in the finals positions.

Brimbank recorded only its second point of the season when it drew 1-1 with Eastern Lions at Gardiners Creek Reserve. Melanie Zerafa gave Brimbank a first half lead, but the Lions equalised through Nicole Pacillo in the second half to deny the visitors their first win this year. The Lions remain eighth, and look out of finals contention at this stage, while Brimbank, rooted at the bottom and seven points from safety, still has a mountain to climb if it is to avoid relegation.

It was first against fifth to round out the action on Sunday, as Cranbourne travelled to Ashburton to take on the new league leaders. Ashburton took the honours with a 1-0 win over the Comets earlier in the year, and was on a high after its first ever victory over Box Hill the previous week. First half goals to Andrea Totsidis and Annabelle Gibney gave the home side a 2-1 lead at half time, but a Rachel Lamb strike 10 minutes into the second half earned the Comets a draw. Cranbourne stays one point behind Sandringham in fifth, while Ashburton continue to lead the way at the top.

a pom's home view

Two week into my UK family holiday and the novelty of the three matches a day has shown no signs of wearing thin. Admittedly, I have not seen every game. 24 hours of flying time to Europe presented the first hurdle, but to my pleasant surprise Emirates, an official World Cup sponsor, showed the games, albeit a day late...

A stopover in Dubai, in the Middle East enabled us to see the first England game. The city, a mass construction site of activity, showed little sign of the World Cup fever. However at 5pm on Saturday a gathering of red shirted ex-pats filtered through the doors of the favourite local bars, as England took on Paraguay in their opening match.

The game was not the pretty goal fest that we had all hoped for, after the early South American own goal was conceded from David Beckham's free kick. However, England's first night nerves are not uncommon; in fact they have only won two opening games in their World Cup history.

Entering the UK we were overwhelmed by the amount of St George flags flying from every house, shop and car. The daily newspapers all have their daily World Cup specials, and with mixed reaction from the first game, the media had decided to produce endless articles of debate about whether Rooney would be fit and whether he would, should or could play.

In Cardiff, the Capital of Wales, we saw England versus Trinidad & Tobago. The local pub had 31 world flags hung over the bar, and while Welsh principles meant the English flag would not adorn a Welsh establishment, the red of St George was well represented by the English supporters. The game itself was frustrating, and the 2-0 win didn't tell the story as England lacked shape and the strikers struggled against a poor team.

The next day the media turned on Michael Owen. He was obviously lacking sharpness and full match fitness and they debated whether he was or Peter Crouch should play alongside Rooney.

The Group B fixtures were completed with England's 2-2 draw with Sweden. The flawless defence was breached, with two weak goals. So, with Owen injured and out of the tournament, the papers are now questioning Sven and his striker selection; one preferred super sub in Crouch, two unfit (including one now at home in the UK) and one untried player, who was not even tried in the last 3 games.

No one really expected England to shine, but it's too early yet and with, in theory, an easy second round opposition of Ecuador, the quarter finals look within sight.

Meanwhile, one Spanish paper has taken an alternative approach, and have quoted that Nosstradamus tipped Spain to win the World Cup. It quotes one of his prophecies as follows: "In the sixth month of 2006 the King of Spain will cross the Pyrenees with his troops. The legions of Beelzebub will battle him in central Europe and suffer doom and destruction. The Holy Grail will then come to Spain."

OVERSEAS TRANSFER NEWS

by Gregg Iqbal

Klose's fine form has captured the attention of a number of clubs

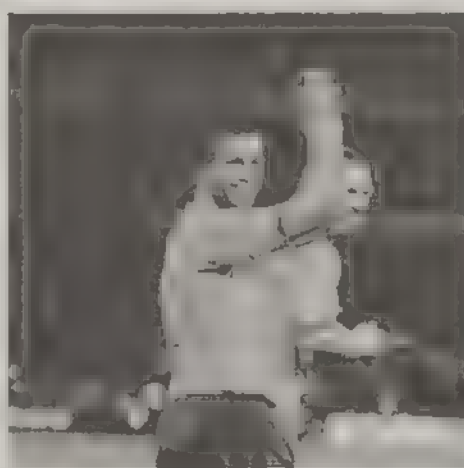

There's nothing quite like the World Cup to put yourself squarely in the transfer shop window and one player whose performances have already drawn admiring glances from abroad is German striker Miroslav Klose. The Werder Bremen forward has shot to the top of Sir Alex Ferguson's wanted list, while Germany teammate Jens Lehman is urging Arsenal to splash £15m on his compatriot. Klose's club, meanwhile, is insisting its star man is not for sale.

Michael Owen would prefer to forget his ill-fated World Cup campaign, as would his club, Newcastle, for whom the task of finding a new striker this summer has just become critical. £10m-rated Dutch striker Dirk Kuyt has emerged as one of Newcastle manager Glenn Roeder's top targets while the club is also said to be preparing to bid £12m for Charlton's Darren Bent. Outgoing Wigan striker Henri Camara is another possibility, as is Jimmy Floyd Hasselbaink, who is out of contract at Middlesbrough, and also wanted by Celtic.

Upton Park is firming as the new home for disgruntled Fulham midfielder Steed Malbranque. The Hammers look to have beaten off competition from Manchester City, Newcastle and Middlesbrough - the latter this week pitching a swap deal involving left-back Franck Queudrue which was rejected by Fulham.

Liverpool and Chelsea are both sniffing around after Smao, whom Benfica value at £14m. The Portugal winger could be seen as a replacement at Stamford Bridge for Damien Duff, who is reportedly the subject of a £7m bid by Tottenham. Indeed Jose Mourinho's wingers are drawing attention far and wide, with Real Madrid set to offer Chelsea £13m for Dutchman Arjen Robben.

Trusty Aussie defender has got some interest from the Nou Camp

On the Australian front, the Sydney Morning Herald last week linked Blackburn's Brett Emerton with a move to fellow Premier League outfit Everton, where he would join Succeroo teammate Tim Cahill. Palermo are reportedly interested in prising Marco Bresciano away from Parma while Lucas Neill's standout performances at the heart of Australia's defence have impressed none other than Frank Rijkaard, who is keen to take him to Barcelona. Perhaps take that last one with an extra large grain of salt.

Manchester United's desperate search for a central midfielder has seen it increase its offer for Spurs midfielder Michael Carrick to £14.2m and look into the availability of Villarreal's Spanish international Marcos Senna.

Everton and Newcastle have joined Monaco in showing initial interest in Joey Barton, whose value to Manchester City in the marketplace decreases by the month. None of those clubs have, however, tabled a firm bid and 23-year-old Barton may yet see out the remainder of his current deal with the Blues before possibly moving on a Bosman at the end of next season.

And in brief...

Arsenal is in the hunt for Sevilla and Argentina striker Javier Saviola, says the player's agent.

Fulham are lining up a shock move for veteran French World Cup star Lilian Thuram of Juventus. West Ham will raise its bid for Charlton and England defender Luke Young from £3.5m to £4m.

Spurs will complete the £6m signing of Ivory Coast midfielder Didier Zokora this week.

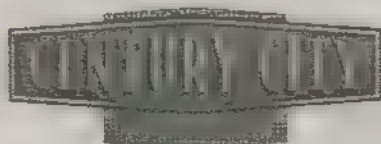

Wigan has offered West Brom £10m for Curtis Davies, Zoltan Gera and Nathan Ellington and Crystal Palace £3m for defender "One Size" Fitz Hall. Big spending Portsmouth has been linked at various times this week with Sol Campbell, Nuno Gomes and Steaua Bucharest's £7m defender Mirel Radoi. Nicholas Anelka, meanwhile, has rebuffed the club's approaches.

Reading is resigned to losing star midfielder Steve Sidwell, who is stalling over a new deal - Charlton and Manchester City are his most likely destinations for around £2m.

What a week it's been in Football!

At long last, the Socceroos have shown some imagination on the World Stage and actually gone out and played some attacking football. Ever since I can remember, previous Socceroos coaches showed little or no imagination in their tactics against opposition teams.

Enter Guus Hiddink. Now, finally we have found a coach who is prepared to experiment, take risks and produce a brand of football that has put Australia well and truly on the map as a nation to be reckoned with.

There was nothing more frustrating than watching previous World Cup campaigns where Australia would play its home leg with one lone striker, try a pinch a goal and then travel overseas to play the return leg, hoping for a happy ending by defending in numbers.

These coaches sat back with arms folded looking for miracles to occur without any input from them whatsoever, tactically or positional.

One man's loss is another's gain. I cannot see Hiddink's replacement being able to equal his achievements with the Socceroos. Russia is his next port of call and I am sure that they will also achieve success.

Speaking of the World Cup, the standard of refereeing has been far from acceptable.

The man in black for the Australia Vs Croatia match either needs a math lesson to be able to count to two Yellow Cards or an eye sight test to be able to tell the difference between the colour Yellow and Red!

To the local scene, and status quo in the coaching ranks for both Premier League and State League Division One, however, for how long? Green Gully find themselves in an territory that they are not very accustomed to, and its name is the relegation zone.

I have a premonition that something will give down Gully way shortly, watch this space. State League Division 2 South East broke its duck last week with the first coaching change occurring at Stonnington City.

Andy Humble and Stonnington City parted ways during the week, and I have always been a firm believer of the "domino theory" - the first coaching change will lead to more coaching changes at other clubs.

The Kingston City Vs Oakleigh Canons match was played on Friday night and a draw was somewhat of a fair result.

For me, it was a game of two halves with the Oakleigh Cannons having most of the play in the first half and Kingston coming home with a wet sail in the second half.

Two matches played between these two clubs and so far, two draws produced. Next time they play there will have to be a result as it will be a Finals match.

During the last 3 weeks, I have done something that I have not done in a very long time, and that is NOT attended any Soccer matches on the weekends.

Work commitments have kept me away from my usual haunts on the weekends and the University of Melbourne have approached me to use me on a Study that they are doing. It covers the Psychological effects of soccer addicts who do not get their weekly fix of going to see a match.

As I wanted to save them a lot of time, I asked them to contact J Walker who would be able to give them the cure for this illness.

The biggest upset of the week belonged to the result of the Southern Stars Vs Clayton match. First met last, and the last team on the ladder, Clayton, had not heard the Fat Lady sing at all this season.

The Fat Lady certainly sang for Clayton after they defeated Southern Stars 4-1. Those who like to back the underdog would have certainly had a smile on their face if they put money on this result, as it was returning 13/1!

Katsa approved: Guus Hiddink gets two thumbs up in his techniques to coaching

Until next week....

This is Katsa, but not as you've known him. When the Fat Lady sings, I hope that you're a winner!

Gus' (Not Guus!) Langwarrin Success

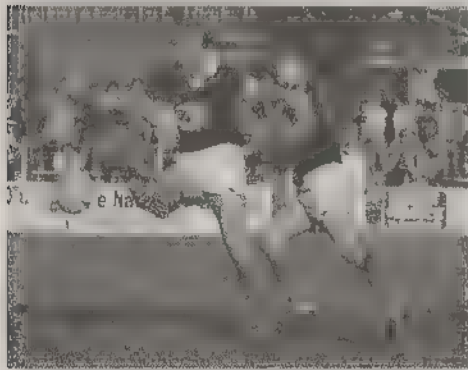

They say a week is a long time in politics, but in football it can seem like a lifetime, especially if you're the coach.

So far this year no less than eight Premier league coaches have either jumped, been pushed or moved of their own accord. The same trend is apparent right the way down through the metro leagues to the provisional divisions.

Someone who bucks this trend is Langwarrin coach Gus Macleod. The Glasgow born Macleod is in his eighth year at the Division One club and there is no evidence his tenure is under threat, particularly in light of the weekends comprehensive 3-0 win over Port Melbourne.

One explanation for his longevity is that the club plots its course in five year lots, rather than season to season, and their committee is not prone to hysteria or rash decisions. Success, undoubtedly, is the other.

Upon migrating to Australia in the early 1980's Macleod went to Green Gully, playing in the 1981/82 Docherty Cup winning sides. He commenced his coaching career shortly after at Fawkner whereby he won the 1984 Docherty Cup in his inaugural year. Two years later he returned to Gully as coach and again won the Cup.

Gus in his playing days taking the field for Melbourne JUST

He had a tilt at the NSL with Footscray JUST, as well as brief stints with Sunshine Georgies and Albion, before settling into Springvale City for an eight year tenure.

He came to Langwarrin in 1998, then a struggling division four side, and neither he or the club has looked back since.

Stan Webster, former Dandenong Thunder coach who was himself sacked a few weeks ago, confirms Macleod's longevity is due to a combination of success and a stable committee.

"The club has stuck by Gus and in return he has brought them up to Division One from the lower leagues," says Webster.

Webster says clubs that are constantly changing coaches tend to se-saw up and down the divisions.

"They lose a few games, someone on the committee thinks his son deserves a game and the next thing they are looking for a new coach," says Webster. Interference from club officials is by no means isolated to any one league.

In the early days of Perth Glory, team owner Nick Tana was renowned for strolling into the rooms pre match and vociferously changing the team sheet to suit himself to the horror of then coach Gary Marocchi.

Macleod has a simple yet effective means of dealing with soccer mums these days. If a parent comes to him complaining about little Johnny not getting a run, he asks them to score the player out of ten on a few key performance indicators. He's yet to have one return.

Macleod is certain that a big part of being a good coach is time and experience, he is surprised at the number of coaches now in the game under the age of thirty. His advice to those coaches is that they only focus on what is within their control, namely players and player management.

"Don't get too caught up with the committee, spectators or commentators.

Respect them, especially those who've been around a long time, but realise that you only control the

:Gus Macleod (far right) with his Lanwarrin squad after gaining promotion into State One players and make them your focus," he says.

"Organisation, discipline and fitness" are the Scotsman's mantra, he says that without these fundamentals teams will always struggle.

Another requirement for a successful coach is "balance". Whether it is juggling the demands of the committee and the team, family and football, or between working hard and having a laugh, "balance", according to Macleod, is the key.

Langwarrin midfielder Ben Caffrey has played under Macleod since 1999. He says his dedication to the club has earned him immeasurable respect around the place.

"He makes sure all the players are assigned to a junior team and he's always there early to watch the Reserves," says Caffrey.

"He instills confidence into players, he discusses any problems with you and he never attacks anyone personally. He'll go off at us if we are slack, but he usually does so to the collective, not the individual.

Another player to have benefited from Macleod's mentoring pulled the boots on for Australia on Sunday night. At age 15 midfielder Vince Grella was the youngest player Macleod ever picked to play senior football. If Grella is an indication of what he can help to achieve in players you can guarantee he'll be around for a while to come.

BAYSIDE FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Division 2's Parkmore has been defeated after a brilliant run of 10 consecutive victories, including one over Premier League team Rosebud in the group stage of the cup competition, Parkmore has finally made it on to the loss column. It was fellow Division 2 competitor Cranbourne Comets Goal who broke Parkmore's brilliant run in week two of the cup competition. And it was evident how much that victory meant for Cranbourne at the final whistle.

Another noteworthy mention is to Division 2's Montrose who held on to Knox City, keeping them to only a 2 - 1 lead with 20 minutes to go until Knox City finally got breathing space by eventually winning 5 - 1. Still, this is a much improved result for Montrose who were crushed 17-0 in the previous cup fixture against Western Port.

Division 3's Frankston Pines once again provided a giant killing performance after knocking over division 1's Frankston Outlaws 4 - 2 to hold top spot. They next face a club derby match between the other team that participates at the Pines, Premier League team Pines Condors. Seaford United and Phillip Island provided a scoring feast with 13 goals scored between them. Seaford United got the win 8 - 3 over their fellow Division 3 competitor and must be favorites to advance to the next stage.

Division 1's Langwarrin and Premier League's Hampton Park United will be facing off next weekend in a match that will determine who will finish top of group F with both teams locked on two wins apiece.

CUP RESULTS

Mornington Glory 2 - 4 Monash
Mt Lilydale B 0 - 7 Croydon Rng A
Frankston Pines 4 - 2 Outlaws
Pines Condors A 3 - 0 Croydon Rng B
Pines Condors B 0 - 4 Croydon O.B.
Seaford United 8 - 5 Phillip Island
Baxter Eagles 1 - 2 Rosebud A
Parkmore 2 - 3 Cranbourne Gold
Baxter Falcons 1 - 5 Rosebud B
Brighton O.B. 4 - 4 Peninsula A
Langwarrin 3 - 2 Rosebud Dinos
Hampton Park A 4 - 2 Peninsula B
Inter Milangy 2 - 1 Cuscatlan
Hampton Park B 0 - 1 Chelsea OB
Boronia Knights 1 - 2 Western Port A
Montrose A 1 - 5 Knox City A
Boronia Colts 1 - 1 Western Port B
Montrose B 0 - 5 Knox City B
Bayswater A 10 - 0 Cerberus
Boronia Cavs 2 - 1 Endeavour Sport
Boronia Barons 0 - 6 Mt Lilydale A
Bayswater B 5 - 0 Mornington Power

Last years Sands Hotel Challenge Cup winner and division 1's Brighton Old Boys had an epic 4 - 4 draw against Premier League's Peninsula.

	P	W	D	L	F	A	PTS
Western Port	9	7	1	1	23	7	22
Hampton Park	9	6	0	3	24	23	18
Croydon Ranges	9	4	1	4	24	15	13
Boronia Knights	9	3	4	2	9	7	14
Rosebud	9	4	1	4	14	13	13
Kox City	9	4	0	5	10	18	12
Bayswater	9	3	2	4	21	15	11
Pines Condors	9	3	0	6	18	26	9
Peninsula	9	3	0	6	14	22	9
Mt Lilydale	9	2	3	4	9	17	9

Brighton will need a good result over Baxter Falcons if they are to advance to the knockout stage.

Premier League's Bayswater Strikers proved to be far too good on the day against Division 1's Cerberus as they ran away with a 10-0 win. That's the second time this year that Bayswater has hit double figures. Still, there may have been so many more stories to come of week 2 of the cup competition. But it will be a nail biting experience for many teams next weekend to see who in fact advances to the knockout stages of the Sands Hotel Challenge Cup and also the Trophy-Wise League Cup.

Bayside Womens Premier League

The Bayside League Womens Premier League resumed after a two week hiatus and it was business as usual for leaders Hampton Park United as they got the better of the Frankston Pines.

Frankston Pines was able to hold Hampton Park scoreless in the first half, including a golden chance to grab the lead themselves. But it was all undone early in the second when an own goal by the Pines helped Hampton Park to eventually run out winners 4 - 0. Leading goal scorer Lisa Jones missed out for once with Marty Ghiller. Bev Bown & Sharna Morgan scoring one goal each.

Frankston Fillies hosted newcomers to the Bayside Ladies division Rosebud in a match that provided the Frankston Fillies and Rosebud their first points of the season as they drew 1 - 1. An encouraging start for Rosebud but will face a tougher opponent next weekend.

Cuscatlan enjoyed the weekend off but will be back in action against Frankston Fillies next weekend. Also Rosebud will host their first match when they entertain Frankston Pines. Hampton Park United has the weekend off and has no fears of losing top spot any time soon.

KRNCEVIC'S KRUNCHLINES

Greetings football fans and welcome to another dose of Krncevic's Krunchlines.

What an incredibly amazing World Cup campaign the Socceroos are experiencing in Germany. The team is playing with so much team spirit, self-belief and confidence I'm sure tonight is not the last time we'll see our boys participate in the world's greatest sporting event. Just looking at the body language of the touring party you can tell they're enjoying every single minute of this special odyssey and will do whatever it takes to avoid surrendering a passage into the quarter-finals. There's no doubt in my mind that Guus Hiddink has worked an absolute miracle with our squad in the short time he's been in charge and is now only three games away from the final – a scenario that would have been deemed laughable less than a year ago. Apart from instilling a clinical and professional approach, Guus has managed to find the right balance on the field of play and together with the right frame of mind there's no guessing how far the momentum can take our boys.

Furthermore, our honest and open style of play is also winning us admirers all over the world, much like the world embraced Cameroon and the Irish in past competitions. Hopefully, history can repeat itself tonight and Guus can guide the Aussies past the Italians, just as he did with Korea in Korea/Japan in 2002. I'm sure Guus will have an extremely thorough game plan in place to give the Italians a run for their money. Although one expects an exceptionally tight contest tonight, hopefully we can maintain our discipline and focus to write another chapter of history by claiming the famous scalp of the Az-

My only other concern is that the game is officiated by a decent referee who doesn't have a bad day at the office. I've been absolutely flabbergasted by some of the performances of the referees in the tournament so far and hope for Australia's sake we don't fall at a crucial hurdle due to an incompetent decision by the men in black.

Whatever happens from here on now, the entire nation should be extremely proud of their efforts. Unlike the squad of '74 and the vast majority of squads of previous World Cup campaigns, practically every single member of this current batch of players were born and bred in Australia. It is also encouraging to think that the skills that is serving them so well in Germany, were taught on our very own suburban grounds. We've really come a long way with no expectation and something tells me it's far from over just yet.

Local Scene

Whilst the success of the Socceroos is being heralded around the country, it will be interesting to see if this current wave of the football phenomenon transpires to the local leagues. If you look at previous World Cups, more often than not, the winners have come from countries with strong domestic competitions. The timing of Australia's qualification and its extraordinary performances in Germany couldn't have come at a better time for the A-league. When Australia achieved qualification in 1974, there was no national competition in place until three years later in 1977, when the National Soccer league was eventually born. Although the league was formed with the best of intentions, the nature of its timing meant we lost out on a golden opportunity that presented itself back then. Over three decades later, after much pain, suffering, indecision and misdirection, all the elements seem to be in place for the local game to really come into its own and provide a truly competent platform whereby young players can ply their trade. While it seems the whole country has finally twigged that it is "ok" to follow the national team as their own, I suppose the next issue on the agenda is to try and convince the same people that it's also "ok" to wear the colours of a local club. With the A-league season running for practically only half the year, I believe it's time the Vodafone Cup sides also take heed of the moment by broadening their appeal and becoming more involved on a community level. The answer my friends is blowing in the wind.

PS...I'm curious to see if Sam Newman ventures down to Federation Square tonight wearing his pink shirt.

Until next time,

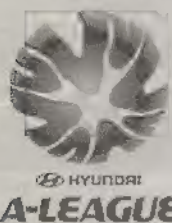

Eddie
